Registry Office

Words by Guide

April 3, 2023

Chief Vernon Saddleback: The discussion for a Registry Office came up last Fall. We had a meeting with the Registry staff and they asked us why does the Samson Cree Nation want a Registry Office?

You could say all the stock answers like I want to register my car, the license plate and my license but for me it was a way to get your ID (identification). We have a lot of our people in the town site who can't get their IDs. They have problems with getting bank accounts. So for me to get a Registry Office in our community it was about providing a basic service for everybody.

I contacted Minister Rick Wilson, Minister Dale Nally and we talked for months about this. We brought Samson Councilor Ryan Lightning on board from Economic Development along with Paul Johnson and his amazing team.

Today is that day we get to announce that the deal is done. We appreciate the Ministers for being here and I want to thank your staff that came with you. Thank you to the media and the Samson Cree Nation people for being here as well. I want to thank Delorna Makinaw and her team for setting this up and our Elder for the prayer this morning. I want to bring up Minister Rick Wilson now.

Rick Wilson, Alberta Minister of Indigenous Relations: Tansi and good morning everyone. It's such an honour to be here with you today on Treaty 6 Territory. Thank you for starting this in a good way with the prayer. I always appreciate the First Nations way of starting their events. It really means a lot to me.

Alberta

Chief Saddleback, he is relentless and he gives me no mercy (Laughter). He said to me, "I want a Registry Office. Make it happen."

(Laughter). So we worked on it. Thanks to Minister Dale Nally on being relentless and pushing this forward to make this our Pilot Project. This would be the first in Alberta and that is amazing.

We talk a lot about reconciliation and all the Ministers got on side with that. Minister Nally especially. He wanted this to happen to this community. I cannot thank him enough for bringing it forward and making it a reality. There are other First Nations looking at this as well. Tsuu Tina is looking forward to this project being on their territory. So this would be our opportunity to contribute to reconciliation. Chief Wilton Littlechild always asks me, "What is your reconciliation?"

Wilton never lets up. That's why you see a lot of projects happening from our government. I have seen so many good things happen when we work together: True partnerships. These partnerships are based on equal access to programs for health care, financial support and even Registries. People do not understand that Wetaskiwin maybe only 15 kilometers away but to some transportation is a barrier. If we can make life easier for the people of Maskwacis then we will. I am really excited to be here and get the ball rolling. We will navigate the challenges with the Chiefs of Maskwacis. We are hoping that your Registry can serve us. This will be the model that will be done in other communities.

When you have two Ministers from the Crown come out and make this announcement, that is saying we take this seriously and that we want to improve the lives of First Nations people. That is our goal. It's right in my mandate and I take that seriously. We have been a lot of hard work across the province like the AIOC program (Alberta Indigenous Opportunities Corporation). That is a billion dollar fund. So far to day, it is going to produce 31 million dollars in revenue for First Nations and Metis communities. We have done some of the biggest energy projects in the world. 1.4 billion dollars was our last public project up north to get Indigenous communities involved in a pipeline consortium. We are going to have some good projects come to this area in the future.

With this Registry Office pilot project, it will employ a few people. It also gives an opportunity to train the people for that employment.

So thank you again Dale Nally for coming out, thank you Chief and Council and everybody else who came out today.

Dale Nally, Minister of Service Alberta and Red Tape Reduction: I've gotten far too much credit for this. The reality is when Minister Wilson wants something he will get it. So that is why we are here today because of the hard work we've done to represent your community.

It is an honour to be here today. I am pleased to be here today on traditional Treaty 6

Territory. Thank you for inviting me to attend this special event. I want to acknowledge the visionary leadership of the Samson Cree Nation. You have recognized in your community that transportation in your community has been a barrier in accessing Registry services. You saw that having a Registry Agent closer to home would allow the people to access important documents. These documents are important for people to navigate their daily lives. Drivers licenses will help get employment. This will further economic opportunity for you and the surrounding community. This is truly partners in prosperity.

I want everyone gathered here today to know that the Government of Alberta supports your role in increasing opportunities for your people and fostering economic growth in your communities. We are committed to working in partnership with you as you start this exciting endeavour. We will work closely with your community to address the unique needs and challenges of your community and help you achieve your goal. We are proud to be your partners and look forward to future opportunities to further your economic development and growth. This will be the first Registry Office on a First Nation Territory. Once again I want to thank you for inviting me to join you today for this big step in bringing vital registry services to your community and I look forward to seeing your progress.

Samson Councilor Ryan Lightning: (Cree first). First and foremost I want to thank our wonderful Creator or God for giving us this opportunity to come together. I want to thank our Ministers Rick Wilson and Dale Nally for giving us this opportunity to one of the first to have a Registry Office on our territory. We do pave the way in such circumstances and I want to thank our Okema Chief Vernon Saddleback for planning such a good project for Samson. He's all about economic growth and creating opportunities for our people. Being the Economic Development Chairperson I work with Paul Johnson who is the CEDO Manager of Samson Economic Development, Paul really helped along with the process because he understood the process and he has a good team behind him as well. The committee consists of Marvin Yellowbird, Holly Johnson and Laurie Buffalo who worked hard on this. As long as we continue to work together, that is how things get done. If you try to do things individually you can only go so far. Working collectively gets things done faster. Thank you for being here today, I know it is cold but it shows we are going to have partnerships for a long time to come. Hai Hai Thank you.

MC Brian Johnson: Please welcome Katherine Swampy with the closing remarks.

Samson Councilor Katherine Swampy: (Cree first). Thank you all for joining us here today. We have been separated by federal and provincial boundaries. It is good to see those barriers come down. It is good to see the province and First Nations working together. It is good to see the people come out and show support. I know today is just the announcement and the Registry Office grand opening will be this Summer. It will be good to see our driver's tests being done on our roads. I want to thank you all very much and I know it has been a cold morning and I don't want to keep you out here too long so thank you all for joining us today for this special announcement. Hai Hai!

MC Brian Johnson: We want to acknowledge some people in the crowd: Councillors Kurt Buffalo and Louise Omeasoo. We are now going to have a media scrum inside the building. Hai Hai thank you all for coming and that concludes the announcement.

Happy Administrative Professionals Day
