Treaty Day

Words by Guide

September 26-27, 2023

Samson & Pigeon Lake: Treaty Day took place behind the HBMC in Samson and out at Pigeon Lake in the sports field because it was a nice Fall day. Teachers and students from the Mimiw-Sakahikan school came out later in the pow wow to watch and they all did a round dance before ending the event. Thank you to the drummers, singers and organizers. Indigenous Services representatives and an RCMP Constable danced in the Grand Entry.

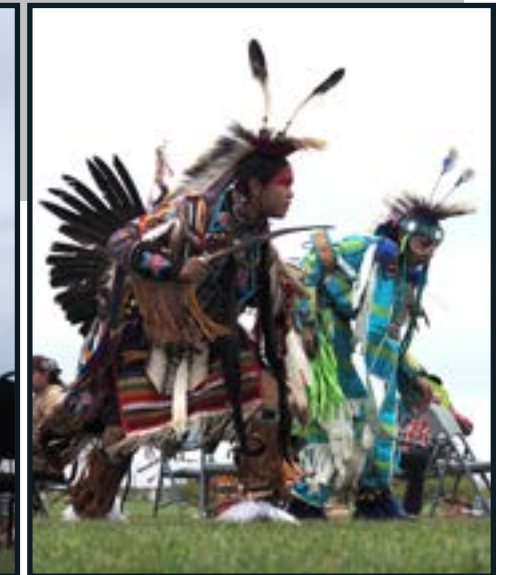

The actual Treaty 6 (signed in 1876) document can be viewed on the federal government webpage with the link below on this page. From the Cree perspective we know that the treaty will exist as long as the sun shines, the grass grows and the rivers flow. This treaty is between the Cree, other tribes

"And further, that Her Majesty's Commissioners shall, as soon as possible after the execution of this treaty, cause to be taken an accurate census of all the Indians inhabiting the tract above described, distributing them in families, and shall, in every year during that time, and the Queen. Today, the Queen would be represented the federal government. I have heard Elders say that the ownership of the land was to go only to the depth of a plow. There was no mention of the rocky mountains west of Maskwacis either. The next generation of Cree will have to learn the Treaty text because they will be the ones who carry it on. The treaty was done with a pipe ceremony back in 1876. The witness was the Creator.

Furthermore, "Treaty No. 6 was signed on August 23, 1876 at Fort Carlton in Saskatchewan. The total area of the Treaty stretches from western Alberta, through Saskatchewan and into Manitoba; and includes 50 First Nations. Provisions in the Treaty recognize the notion of the medicine chest as well as the right to education." (Source: <https://www.treatysix.org/>).

ensuing the date hereof, at some period in each year, to be duly notified to the Indians, and at a place or places to be appointed for that purpose within the territory ceded, pay to each Indian person the sum of $5 per head yearly."

Interview with Colleen Buffalo, the late Shane Yellowbird's Mom.

Guide: What's the best memory you have of Shane?

Colleen: Being at rodeo's when both Shane and Carmen were little. Shane would sit in the middle because Carmen was older. I would have country music playing and he would be singing right along in the truck as we were going. I know his favourite song Lonely Women Make Good Lovers. Which is hilarious but he would sing it and because he stuttered I took him to speech therapy. He would have to bring home a book every day and he would either read to Carmen or me and all of sudden the book would go flying across the room. He was getting tired of it and it was like Dr. Seuss, Green Eggs and Ham books, and then it got to longer books and he did not like that. He just wanted it short and fast. Those are some memories.

He would be sitting at home by the telephone and he could not say his "S's" and I go name him Shane. He could not say his "H's" and he could not say his "F's." So when he would be sitting by the phone Carmen or I would have to go running to the phone because he could not say "Hello." Or he would go, no I am not answering it. So those are some memories.

Next thing you know when he was at the recording studio at Red Deer College he had to get some gas for his vehicle. His song came on the radio: Pick Up Truck, while he was getting gas at this station. He looked at the other guy who was getting gas at this station too and Shane said, "That's me!" The other man gassing up said, "Sure it is." So its memories like that I remember. I am very proud of his achievements.

Guide: When did Shane start singing? At an early age?

Colleen: Yes. Probably at about age 3 or 4 he started singing. I knew it was his destiny.

Guide: What do you want to say to all those young girls and boys and talented people out there in Maskwacis who want to go take the road Shane did?

Colleen: Just go for it. That's what Shane said.

Shane was singing for the cowboys after the team roping the Panee Memorial Agriplex centre long ago. The one cowboy came up to him after the show and he knew somebody in the music business. He said to Shane, "You need to be going to these singing contests."

Shane mentioned that he was nervous and that he had never been on stage before. He went to the singing contest anyway. The next thing you know Shane started winning these contests. Shane would say he would just go for it. When he was on stage he would still get the butterflies. Someone in Nashville told him it's when you don't have the butterflies you have to worry. You become so passionate about it. I think it might have been Charlie Daniels who told him that.

Sept 10, 2023. Leduc City Mayor Bob Young and Councillors Beverly Beckett, Glen Finstad, Ryan Pollard, Bill Hamilton, Lars Hansen, Laura Tillack, the City Manager and CEO toured the Samson Cree Nation. Samson Councilors Izaiah Omeasoo-Swampy and Holly Johnson met the group along with the Museum Staff to tour the premises. Leduc City officials have done a lot toward reconciliation like: raising the Treaty 6 flag, recognizing Red Dress Day, a Treaty 6 land acknowledgement and Aboriginal Day on the solstice June 21. Mitch Wincentaylo, Indigenous Engagement Coordinator for the Town of Devon was also on this tour.

Samson Community Wellness: Orange Shirt Day took place in Samson and there was a walk from 3 mile to the Willowview building.

Once everyone made it to the Willowview building a conference took place. Samson Councilors were present and taking part in the event. Lorne Green briefly took time to explain to the people the history of the residential schools in Alberta. Lorne made it clear that we must reconcile with ourselves first and our families before we attempt to reconcile with other people. Eventually, when your ready a person can then work with institutions or people for healthy, positive future. You can watch the entire event on the Samson Community Wellness facebook page.

Orange Shirt day started when a residential school student, Phyllis Webstad from BC, went to the first day of school wearing an orange shirt. The school staff removed the shirt from the student. Today, Orange Shirt day is recognized throughout Canada.
